

Introduction

In order to operate efficiently and effectively, The Cellar Trust has to collect and use information about the people we work with. These may include current, past and prospective employees, clients, volunteers, trustees, customers and suppliers. This personal information must be handled and dealt with correctly however it is collected, recorded and used. The Cellar Trust is committed to adhering to the legal safeguards within data protection legislation including the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) 2016 and the Privacy and Electronic Communications (EC Directive) 2003.

The Cellar Trust respects the privacy of individuals and recognises how important it is that personal information remains secure. This policy sets out how we ensure that everyone handling personal data is fully aware of the requirements and acts in accordance with data protection procedures. This document also highlights key data protection procedures within the organisation. This policy covers employed staff, trustees and volunteers.

The GDPR provides conditions for the processing of any personal data. It also makes a distinction between personal data and 'sensitive' personal data.

Personal data is defined as data relating to a living individual who can be identified from:

- That data;
- That data and other information which is in the possession of, or is likely to come into the possession of staff and volunteers and includes an expression of opinion about the individual and any indication of the intentions of staff and volunteers, or any other person in respect of the individual.

Sensitive personal data is defined as personal data relating to:

- Racial or ethnic origin
- Political opinion
- Religious or other beliefs
- Trade union membership
- Physical or mental health or condition
- Sexual life
- Criminal proceedings or convictions

Depending on the reasons an individual interacts with us we may keep some or all of the following data about them:

- Clients – contact details, risk information, case notes including health related data.
- Volunteer information - application forms including referees, DBS information.
- Trustees – contact details, background information.
- Information on job applicants for posts, including references.
- Employee information – contact details, bank account number, payroll information, DBS information, supervision notes, health related information.
- Demographic information (e.g. age, gender, ethnicity)
- Donors – contact details, financial information.

The definition of 'processing' is obtaining, using, holding, amending, disclosing, destroying and deleting personal data. This includes paper based and electronic personal data.

Trustees	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Ultimate responsibility for ensuring compliance with the GDPR, Data Protection Act 2018 and any other relevant data protection legislation.</li> </ul>

In addition to the above, The Cellar Trust is a Data Controller under the GDPR and we have responsibilities to ensure that our organisational and technical processes comply with the legislation.

However it is also the responsibility of all employed staff, trustees and volunteers who process personal information to ensure they not only understand but also act in line with this policy and the data protection principles.

Staff are responsible for ensuring that:

- They adhere to set procedures to ensure all personal data is kept securely.
- No personal data is disclosed either verbally or in writing, accidentally or otherwise, to any unauthorised third party.
- Personal data is kept in accordance with The Cellar Trust's data retention policy (see Appendix 1).
- Any queries regarding data protection, including subject access requests and complaints, are promptly directed to the DPO.
- Any data protection breaches are swiftly brought to the attention of the DPO.
- Where there is uncertainty around a data protection matter advice is sought from the DPO.

Breach of this policy may result in disciplinary proceedings.

General Principles

Principles of Data Protection

In line with the GDPR principles, The Cellar Trust will ensure that personal data is:

- Processed lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner.
- Collected for specified and legitimate purposes and not further processed in a manner that is incompatible with those purposes.
- Adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to the reasons that data is processed.
- Accurate and kept up to date.
- Not held longer than necessary.
- Subject to appropriate security measures.

In addition to these principles we will adhere to the principle of accountability as set out in the GDPR legislation. We take responsibility for complying with data protection law at the highest management level and throughout our organisation. This includes keeping evidence of the steps we take to comply with the GDPR and ensuring we have appropriate technical and organisational measures and records in place which demonstrate our compliance.

Storage of Data

- All computer systems are password protected. Password protection is activated whenever a workstation is left unattended. Passwords are changed regularly (at least every three months).
- All Cellar Trust mobile devices (laptops and tablets) are encrypted.
- Any mobile phone used for work purposes must either have finger print recognition or a pin code.
- Paper based personal data is kept to a minimum and steps are being taken to phase out paper based records. Any paper based data is kept in locked filing cabinets or locked desk drawers with restricted access.
- Staff are required to lock away any personal data whenever a work station is left unattended and adhere to our clear desk policy.

- Personal data is disposed of appropriately and securely e.g.: shredding, professional wiping of electronic records.
- Staff are not permitted to hold client data on memory sticks or portable devices. Staff using portable devices must only access The Cellar Trust documents and data via our secure, encrypted remote access Virtual Private Network (VPN) system.
- All of The Cellar Trust's electronic data is backed up remotely with a high degree of security by an authorised computer security business.
- IT hardware that contains data is disposed of in accordance with strict data protection processes. This is done by a third party who provide a certificate to show it has been wiped or disposed of correctly. Copies of these certificates are retained and available in request
- Cookies - we use cookies on our website. A cookie is a small file which asks permission to be placed on the website visitor's computer hard drive and it helps us to recognise and track users in order to provide them with a better online experience. Individuals can choose to accept or delete cookies. Please refer to our Privacy Policy for more information

Data Sharing

In the absence of consent, a legal obligation or other legal basis of processing, personal data should not generally be disclosed to third parties unrelated to The Cellar Trust.

Third-Party Data Processors

Where external companies are used to process personal data on behalf of The Cellar Trust, responsibility for the security and appropriate use of that data remains with The Cellar Trust. Where a third-party data processor is used the following will apply:

- Any data processor chosen must provide sufficient guarantees about their security measures when protecting personal data.
- Reasonable steps must be taken to ensure that such security measures are in place.
- A written contract establishing what personal data will be processed and for what purpose must be set out.
- A data processing agreement must be signed by both parties and/or we will ensure that any external companies used have adequate processes in place which meet GDPR requirements.

For further guidance about the use of third-party data processors please contact the DPO.

Contractors, Short-Term Staff, Bank Workers and Volunteers

The Cellar Trust is responsible for the use made of personal data by anyone working on our behalf. Any contractors, short term or voluntary staff must be appropriately vetted for the data they will be processing. In addition The Cellar Trust will ensure that:

- Any personal data collected or processed in the course of work undertaken for The Cellar Trust is kept securely and confidentially.
- All personal data is returned to The Cellar Trust on completion of the work, including any copies that may have been made. Alternatively that the data is securely destroyed and The Cellar Trust receives notification in this regard from the contractor or short term / voluntary member of staff.
- The Cellar Trust receives prior notification of any disclosure of personal data to any other organisation or any person who is not a direct employee of the contractor.
- Any personal data made available by The Cellar Trust, or collected in the course of the work, is neither stored nor processed outside the UK unless written consent to do so has been received from The Cellar Trust.

- All practical and reasonable steps are taken to ensure that contractors, short-term, bank or voluntary staff do not have access to any personal data beyond what is essential for the work to be carried out properly.

Staff who are unsure about who are the authorised third parties to whom they can legitimately disclose personal data should seek advice from the DPO.

Data Protection Compliance

In addition to the data protection and security measures already outlined in this policy, The Cellar Trust has in place a system of Data Protection Compliance Monitoring. We carry out regular spot checks to ensure that our staff are following the data protection guidance and procedures we have in place. The results of these checks are logged using a set format (spot check forms are available from the DPO and/or the server) and if we identify any issues from this process an action plan is recommended with a lead member of staff identified to ensure the actions are carried out.

Confidentiality

All Cellar Trust staff, volunteers and trustees are bound by the organisation's Confidentiality Policy and must adhere to certain ways of working to ensure we maintain strict confidentiality of personal data. Please refer to The Cellar Trust Confidentiality Policy for full details.

Data Subjects Rights

Data subjects are all those people we hold personal information about. Data subjects have rights in relation to the way we handle their personal data which include:

1. Where the legal basis of our processing is consent, to withdraw that consent at any time.
2. To ask for access to the personal data that we hold (see below).
3. To prevent our use of the personal data for direct marketing purposes.
4. To object to our processing of personal data in limited circumstances.
5. To ask us to erase personal data without delay:
  - a. if it is no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which it was collected or otherwise processed;
  - b. if the only legal basis of processing is consent and that consent has been withdrawn and there is no other legal basis on which we can process that personal data;
  - c. if the data subject objects to our processing where the legal basis is the pursuit of a legitimate interest or the public interest and we can show no overriding legitimate grounds or interest;
  - d. if the data subject has objected to our processing for direct marketing purposes;
  - e. if the processing is unlawful.
6. To ask us to rectify inaccurate data or to complete incomplete data.
7. To restrict processing in specific circumstances e.g. where there is a complaint about accuracy.
8. To ask us for a copy of the safeguards under which personal data is transferred outside of the EU.
9. The right not to be subject to decisions based solely on automated processing, including profiling, except where necessary for entering into, or performing, a contract, with The Cellar Trust; it is based on the data subject's explicit consent and is subject to safeguards; or is authorised by law and is also subject to safeguards.

10. To prevent processing that is likely to cause damage or distress to the data subject or anyone else.
11. To be notified of a personal data breach which is likely to result in high risk to their rights and freedoms.
12. To make a complaint to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO)
13. In limited circumstances, receive or ask for their personal data to be transferred to a third party in a structured, commonly used and machine readable format.

Data Subject Access Requests

- Individuals have a right to access the personal data we hold about them. An individual can make a subject access request to a member of staff verbally or in writing. It can also be made to any part of the organisation (including by social media) and does not have to be to a specific person or contact point. This includes requests from staff and volunteers.
- A request does not have to include the phrase 'subject access request' or Article 15 of the GDPR, as long as it is clear that the individual is asking for their own personal data.
- If any member of staff is made aware of a request to access personal data they must report it to their line manager immediately who will deal with the request following the correct process. This will include reporting the request to the DPO.
- Requests must be complied with, usually within one month of receipt.
- A charge can be made for dealing with requests relating to these rights only if the request is excessive or burdensome.
- The person requesting the information should be asked to complete the Subject Access Form (see Appendix 2) where possible although this is not compulsory. Whether or not a form is completed the Subject Access Log must be completed.
- The identity of an individual requesting data under any of the rights listed must be verified and they will be asked to provide a recognised form of ID before any information is released.
- When sending the data to the individual who has requested it we must also provide a copy of the relevant Privacy Notice which covers information about what, how and why we hold their data.

Confidentiality Breaches

Any breach of any data protection, data security or confidentiality principles or procedures must be reported to the DPO who will launch an investigation process. Unlawful and / or inappropriate disclosure of personal information is a serious offence and will result in the Disciplinary Policy being invoked. Depending on the seriousness of the breach The Cellar Trust may also need to contact the local NHS Data Controller and ICO for advice and action. Any staff member who becomes aware of any confidentiality breach must inform their line manager or the DPO immediately. Failure to do so may result in disciplinary action.
